Stephen Dycus
Professor of National Security Law
Vermont Law School

Professor Stephen Dycus is a member of the Vermont Law School faculty, where he teaches a course in National Security Law, among others. He holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees from Southern Methodist University and an LL.M. from Harvard. He has been a Visiting Professor at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and a Visiting Scholar at the Natural Resources Defense Council in Washington, DC. Dycus is co-author of the Aspen casebooks National Security Law and Counterterrorism Law. He is also the author of National Defense and the Environment, as well as a number of articles on environmental and national security issues. He was founding Co-Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of National Security Law & Policy and founding Chair of the Section on National Security Law of the Association of American Law Schools.